Subject: Preference for Candidates Proficient in Regional Language for Contractual Teacher Appointments in "KHA" and "GA" Kshetra ('ख' एवं 'ग' क्षेत्र) notified under Raj Bhasha- regarding

Sir/Madam,

As you are aware, effective communication and cultural understanding are crucial for creating a supportive learning environment for students, especially in residential schools like JNVs where students come from diverse backgrounds but are predominantly from the local region.

In this context, it is suggested that due preference may kindly be given to candidates who possess a good command of the regional/local language during the selection process for contractual teaching posts. May bring in provision of 15 marks under weightage for Educational & other qualification for having studied regional language at least for 06 years of the state where JNVs are functioning or who have regional language as mother tongue and Maximum weightage for Educational qualification & other qualification should not be more than 75 marks.

This will not only bridge the communication gap between students and teachers but will also help in better classroom engagement, pastoral care, and community interaction. This recommendation may be especially implemented in all JNVs falling under the "Kha "and "Ga" Kshetra ('ख' एवं 'ग' क्षेत्र) of Rajbhasha.

Additionally, the concerned Deputy Commissioners may explore the possibility of contacting reputed B.Ed. colleges and other recognized teacher training institutions for sponsoring their pass-out students for engagement on contractual basis. A Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) may also be considered with Regional Institutes of Education (RIEs) under NCERT for a long-term and structured collaboration in this regard. This would not only ensure the availability of well-trained teachers but also strengthen the institutional linkage between NVS and premier teacher training institutions.

While academic qualifications and teaching experience remain paramount, language proficiency and formal pedagogical training can greatly enhance the quality of teaching and learning in our Vidyalayas.

I sincerely hope that the above suggestions will be considered and implemented in the best interest of our students and the overall academic environment in JNVs.
